A letter just received in this city of music. The Stor Skandinavisk Sangerfest, or Grand Scandinavian Singing Festival, which was held under the auspices of the Scandinavian singers of Salt Lake City, proved a most gratifying success to those who had it in charge. The crowd was not as large as was anticipated, and the street car facilities might have been better, but such little setbacks failed to dampen the arder of these present.

The prime object of holding the festival was for the purpose of bringing together the three Scandinavian singing societies of the city, looking towards their future amalgamation into one interesting the state Normal school, last Sunday night, in the Morthold and the little strong outcasts of the world, but the strong outcasts of the world, but the strong military law enforced at the end of the long tom-toms keeps the acts of these people down, and when they are cought they get it property. Importance of Chinamen.

Referring to the prominence of the Chinese in Manifa, the writer says:
"The Chinese here are a peculiar lot, and they are going to get the ple of the Philippines if the Americans don't wake up. I fear that American capital will not have the courage to invest in the great riches and to develop the unprecedented opportunities that are kicking around loose, until after the ground floor is full. One phase of the Chinese question that is rather odd is the immense amount of capital that Chinamen have at their disponal. There credits of $55,660 at the banks of the city, and many a scrawny, filthy Chinaman is worth a million or less.

"They have a government all of their own, and no Chinaman is so poor that he cannot find friends to ball him out of Jall and produce the amount of his fine, no matter how large. It is very rare that a Chinaman does time. Every the constant of the control o Chino, and one never does business with principals, but always with agents. Each district seems to have a ruler who attends to all the commercial relations with outsiders and keeps all members out of trouble. John Chinaman does business on the sugar-coated commission plan, and the whole crowd are salams and cod fish. When a Chino comes to your office with a bill, he stays cutiside grinning and bowling low. In response to your demand to "entre pronto" he kisses the disorstep, bows till you get tired and finally reaches his hand close enough for you to get his letter. It is a bill all receipted and payment acknowledged, according to the custom of the country. All you do is hand him his mattey, then with a few dozen more salams he bows himself out and is gone.
